DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Min US Patent Publication No. 2002/0089605 in view of Walker et al. US Patent No. 6,928,233.

Regarding claim 1, 2, 6, 7, and 8, Min discloses a system for displaying information on a display device , comprising: receiving means for receiving a transport stream comprising services [0015 receiving an RF signal], with the services having elementary streams of video and of data-elements [0013 Broadcasting of television programs is known to include both video and related data]; user interface means for making a user selection of a type of information to be displayed on the display device [0018]; a filter for selecting a first data-element of a first one of the services on basis of the user selection [0020]; rendering means for calculating an output image to be displayed on the display device, on basis of the first data-element selected by the filter [0021]; and switching means for switching from the first one of the services to a second one of the services [Figure 1 RF Switch 11]. Min fails to disclose that the while being switched the two data-elements are mutually semantically related. In an analogous art, Walker discloses a signal processing method for detecting and analyzing a pattern reflecting the semantics of the content of a signal [Col. 2 line 51- Col.3 line 5]. Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to combine the teachings of Min and Walker to achieve a method of displaying information faster.

Regarding Claim 3 Min discloses a method comprising a converter for controlling the filter to select the second data-element on basis of the user selection and a third data-element of the second one of the services [0020].

Regarding Claim 4 Min discloses a method wherein the rendering means are arranged to calculate a mixed output image to be displayed on the display device, on basis of the selected data-element and a first image of a first elementary stream of video [0019].

Regarding Claim 5, Min discloses a method comprising storage means [CPU 41] for storage of a parameter which determines the filter.

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. It includes Moon US Patent No. 5,877,817, Onishi et al US Patent No. 6,154,720, Choi US Patent No. 6,598,233 and Joung et al. US Patent Publication No. 2003/0147010.
